Catch Fire

5 Seconds of Summer

Oh say, can you see?
This is not who I'm supposed to be Without you I'm nobody, killing time
I tried to deceive
Tried to win you desperately
Now I'm lost in this swirling sea of your sorry eyesAll my life I've been waiting for moments to come
When I catch fire and watch over you like the sun
I will fight to fix up and get things right
I can't change the world but maybe I'll change your mindOh say, do you know?
I'm a fool in a one man show
I'm a broken stereo, out of time
So how, does it feel?
All alone, is it so surreal?
'Cause the ghost of survivor's guilt can be so unkindAll my life I've been waiting for moments to come
When I catch fire and watch over you like the sun
I will fight to fix up and get things right
I can't change the world but maybe I'll change your mindThe words you speak, surrounding me
This is broken love in the first degree
The air you breath is haunting me
Maybe I'll change your mindAll my life I've been waiting for moments to come
When I catch fire and watch over you like the sun
I will fight to fix up and get things right
I can't change the world
I know that I can't change the world
But maybe I'll change your mind

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/