

The Seal

Fool's Garden

You said it in a strange kind, I don't forget the day
Your smile is not the same now, You've drawn your hands away
I don't begrudge it to you, you've found another place
Another place is good too, but I can't look inside your face
    Inside your face -- now you get away
    And now we shunt our train on to a siding
    I see you wave your hand and disappear
    You said come on and fly with me,
    Fly and then we'll dive into an endless sea
And now you fly again, I couldn't fly like you
    And now I'm losing you

Pathos -- how the eyes gape, I've got blood in my hands
Thoughts about the promise and all the tears that we have shed Don't you let them use you, be cautious when you dive into the world around you you've broken all the ties
    All the ties -- now you get away
    And now we shunt our train on to a siding
    I see you wave your hand and disappear
    You said come on and fly with me,
    Fly and then we'll dive into an endless sea
And now you fly again, I couldn't fly like you
    And now I'm losing you
