

Satisfied

Jordan Feliz

I have stumbled through the darkest of the valleys
And I have climbed upon the highest of hills
All my traveling has brought me to your fountain
And all I want is to come and drink my fill I have stumbled through the darkest of the valleys
And I have climbed upon the highest of hills
All my traveling has brought me to your fountain
And all I want is to come and drink my fill My heart
Your throne
This life belongs to you and you alone
Let there be
No divide
In only you may my soul be satisfied There is beauty that can lead into temptation
There are voices that will call me far away
But I have found in your surrender my salvation
And in your love I've come to find a resting place There is beauty that can lead into temptation
There are voices that will call me far away
But I have found in your surrender my salvation
And in your love I've come to find a resting place The broken, the thirsty
Who long for your mercy
Can run to you only you
And peace everlasting
Beyond understanding
In you only you

Songwriters

PAUL THOMAS DUNCAN, JORDAN FELIZ Published by Lyrics © MUSIC SERVICE INC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>