

Western Wall

Anubis Spire

WESTERN WALL

There's a fire that keeps on burning
All along the Western Wall
There's a nightmare keeps returning
And it makes no sense at all

Out in the street
The heat is rising
Down at the checkpoint, voices scream
There's smoke on the horizon
Just enough to kill both dreams

No more sorrow
No more struggle
If I could, I would
End it all today

There's a fire that keeps on burning
All along the western world
Another cheek that won't be turning
Another war banner unfurled

In my dreams I've seen them screaming
On the news I've watched them lie
And I hate the ones who profit
From the faith of those who die

There's a fire that keeps on burning
And a flame that's grown too wild
Too many hearts have frozen over
Insanity is in their eyes

One can pretend they are the righteous
One can pretend their god is right
Hurry off to their destruction
Follow hate into that night

No more problems

No more hatred
Fiery clouds they're shining like the sun

There's a fire that keeps on burning
All along the Western Wall
There's a nightmare keeps returning
And it makes no sense at all
