

Raven

Terrateya

Death is a salesman
The goods he offers
Speak to our desires
Better knowing than deceasing
Were far from losing the illusion of control too temptingThe dam is broken
We sabotaged it
Swirling in the vortex
Hoping we dont have to face the truth
Cause going down is much easier than swimming back upFor so long Ive been Blinded by duty
Finally realizing
The carrier dies with the message
The contents burning through my wings and soulCan you hear the voice of the raven
Drowning in fire and dreams of war
Lost in a world full of pain and confusion
The raven finally whispers
NevermoreTell me Raven, did you see
People die for being free
Did you see hope in their eyes
When they heard them telling lies
Did you see the wasted land
Which they left and never meant
To return back to their home
But to struggle all aloneFly my Raven through the night
Be my ears and be my sight
Report to me this useless fight
Return to me before first lightCan you hear the voice of the raven
Drowning in fire and dreams of war
Lost in a world full of pain and confusion
The raven finally whispers
Nevermore

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>