Bittersweet Feast

Nevermore

Please let me help you bury your dead
They've made the incision and driven their industry's waste in your headThe pyres in the distance glow beyond the haze

The hypocrites bear witness to the end of days

This is your final warning, a war on freewill is coming This disillusion, this ignorant display Defies solution and emasculates disdain The sheep march to the fire and wait to host the flies

Their greedy little maggots clean the wounds with pride

This is your final warning, a war on freewill is comingThey feast on the meat in bittersweet denial And swallow the blood of poisoned truths

They pick at the meat, a bittersweet feast for all the liarsIn idle servitude the worker pig so sad

The lizards in wither have risen to censor the thoughts in your headThe sheep are stoned and quiet choking on the lies

The lizards feed the fire without compromise

This is your final warning, a war on freewill is comingThey feast on the meat in bittersweet denial And swallow the blood of poisoned truths

They pick at the meat, their bittersweet feastBegging forgiveness in denial, your misery shows it's face You drown in your weakness, the plasphemous river washes away your mistakesPlease let me help you bury your dead

They've made the incision and driven their industry's waste in your headThis is your final warning, the holocaust of thought is dawningThey feast on the meat in bittersweet denial

And swallow the blood of poisoned truths
They pick at the meat, their bittersweet feast
A bittersweet feast for all the liars
