

Batonga in Batongaville

Budapest Philharmonic Orchestra

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

[Antonia Chavez:] "Are we on? Good afternoon, I'm Antonia Chavez and this is a Watch Special Report. I'm being told that we're taking you right now live to Batonga Penitentiary where Wayne Gayle continues his interrupted interview in the middle of a full-scale riot. Wayne, can you hear me? Wayne, tell us what's happening out there. Are you safe?" [Wayne Gayle:] "What?
This is Wayne Gayle resuming live from Batongaville, where you can tell by the blood and carnage all around me that the final chapter in the book called Mickey and Mallory has yet to be written." [Antonia Chavez:] "Are you in danger, Wayne. Can you tell us? Are you in danger?" [Wayne Gayle:] "A terrible war has broken out here, unlike anything I've ever seen. Really, the garbage... Batonga will stand along side the..." [Antonia Chavez:] "What's happening, Wayne?" [Wayne Gayle:] "Batonga, Batonga, Batonga... Batonga!" [Mickey:] "Go, go, go, go!" [Wayne Gayle:] "In Batongaville." [Black Inmate:]
"Give me, give me
Miss Brown!"
