

Kristine

Sky Ferreira

I'm not feeling bad about it whatsoever
I'm happier near to the ground so whatever
It's more a numbness than a bad or a great or a better
A giant comedy with museums and movies with Hedi
The routines of the young millionaires I will stand on the hill apolitical still
In the name of the young millionaires
Misanthropy, could it be in the name of the father and the son
And the young on the run with a ton, yeah the young millionaires Even though I'm not quite I've been living it right down Pretending I am, what's the point of saving?
Stabbing pens in my hands
And I'm never working, I'm just spending
A giant comedy with museums and shopping
With Kristine the routines of the young millionaires I will stand on the hill apolitical still
In the name of the young millionaires
Misanthropy, could it be in the name of the father and the son
And the young on the run with a ton, yeah the young millionaires I will rave in support of the sports that we play
In the gyms of the young millionaires
I will brand all my bills with the brand
That has filled up the hands of the young millionaires I will shoot up the juice before making a truce
With not one in support of the young millionaires Young millionaires

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>