

Sally Anne

Black Market Empire

Oh Sally Anne take me out tonight , I'll be home tomorrow with you by my-side.
Out at night, back at sunrise. Me and Sally Anne we have a good time.

When the wind runs through her hair,
Sally Anne will no longer be there.

With a gap in her teeth, a twinkle in her, the boys and Sally Anne they have a good time.

When the wind runs through her hair,
Sally Anne will no longer be there.

To her the boys they were just broken toys,
she was playing a game from the start.
And everyone thought they would not get caught,
but she will steal your heart, she will steal your heart.
