

The Wanderer

Evig Natt

A few prisms of glass offer littler comfort in the blackness
The desolate emptiness drinking every last drop of life that's left in me
I pray for absolution, let me return to the path of a tempting lie?
    Lead me towards the light
    Truly I've run awry

My compass is spinning in the shadows
It's funny how we believe the things that we tell ourselves to
    And our hearts simply follow
I pray for absolution, let me return to the path of a tempting lie..
    Lead me towards the lights
I pray for the absolution, let me return to the path of a tempting lie..
    Lead me towards the light

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>