

The Sound of Your Breath

Upon This Dawning

What the fuck would I be without you in my life?
I can feel your presence, even when I'm alone with myself
Like invisible lovers, I can feel your taste on my lips
I'll dance on the sound of your breath Give me the strength and keep me safe if I collapse
Cause I never imagined that your words could steal my life
When I'm lost, in the darkest time you lead my hand
To see lights in nights of winter, I'm still losing my mind You'll live forever
To bring the lights to me
Whispering softly all the words I need to hear Strong like a castle, old like the ancient trees
Strong like a castle, pure like wind
I know you'll live forever
Strong like a castle, old like the ancient trees strong like a castle, pure like wind Give me the strength and keep me safe if I collapse
Cause I never imagined that your words could steal my life
When I'm lost, in the darkest time you lead my hand
To see lights in nights of winter, I'm still losing my mind I, I can still feel your presence, even when I'm alone with myself
Like invisible lovers, I can feel your taste on my lips
