Overnight

Parachute

Overnight
I walk these midnight streets alone
All the lights
They try to pull me in
Oh and I should be sleeping
No but I can't close my eyes anymore
So I'm wide-awake againEverybody says that I should just forget
The hardest part is over with
But it's so dark and I can't see the light
There will never be a heart that I could break
That I could find to take your place
There's nothing I can do
I can't get over youOvernight
I can't get over you
Overnight
I should be sleepingOvernight
I watch the strangers pass me by
Every time
Their face looks just like you
Oh and I still remember
You in my arms when I would hold you
Back when the sun would always rise too soonEverybody says that I should just forget
The hardest part is over with
But it's so dark and I can't see the light
There will never be a heart that I could break
That I could find to take your place
There's nothing I can do
I can't get over youOvernight
I can't get over you
Overnight
I should be sleeping
Overnight
I can't get over you
Overnight
I should be sleeping
OvernightI should be sleeping
I should be sleeping
I should be sleeping
I should be sleepingEverybody says that I should just forget

The hardest part is over with
But it's so dark and I can't see the light
There will never be a heart that I could break
That I could find to take your place
There's nothing I can do
I can't get over youOvernight
I can't get over you
Overnight
I should be sleeping
Overnight
I can't get over you
Overnight
I should be sleepingI should be asleep right now
I should be asleep right nowOvernight
I walk these midnight streets alone
