Mirrorized Thoughts

Catamenia

Leaves are fallen, times have passed by, pitch black moon stares from the sky
Coldness emerge with the night, im wandering in dreamland of my own mindA silent, fading whispers haunts me
Am i dreaming again or is it thereMirrored light blinding my eyes, can`t feel anything real, cant compromise
I feel nothing, sometimes i wish i was still unborn childAll these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore i must been paralyzed
All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore, everything is goneDarkness i feel, these shades with me
Broken fears, what is this dream
Is it my mind, making sensless cry
Give me a sign, to leave this pathetic lifeA silent, fading whispers haunts me
Am i dreaming again or is it thereLeaves are fallen, times have passed by, pitch black moon stares from the sky
Coldness emerge with the night, im wandering in dreamland of my own mind
Slightly im beginning to remember my past life, so distant in my mind
So clearly i can see those times, fading away from this souls entwineAll these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore i must been paralyzed
All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore, everything is gone All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore, everything is gone
