Miss You

Ringside

I cannot be where the weather is fair

With you on the ground, me in the air

Where whistling engines drink up restless heartsI can still taste the last call, I still feel the bar

The plotting of managers in fast open cars

Racing the agents, chasing the ancients

To the corner stores, to pick out our potionsI like the others believe we were born

To bleed at the borders to sleep with the storm

I must confess I have laid down

Where stronger men dared not goBut I miss you, I miss you

There is nothing I can take

There is nothing I can do

To keep from running awayI know of what I've lost

On this quiet night

I still felt your grasp upon me

As I boarded the flightAnd I watched you there in the window

I wondered how long you'd stay

Waving your arms at the Jumbo

As it tore us both awayI wish I could just turn myself around

Follow my heart back to you on the ground

And I know just for tonight

It's harder to hear than goodbyeBut I miss you, I miss you

There is nothing I can take

There is nothing I can do

To keep from running awayAt any cost

To keep from turning around

Just to see what I've lostI miss you, I miss you

There is nothing I can take

There is nothing I can do

To keep from running awayAt any cost

To keep from turning around

Just to see what I've lostI wish I could just turn myself around

Follow my heart back to you on the ground

Just for tonight it's harder to hear than goodbyeI wish I could just turn myself around

Follow my heart back to you on the ground

Just for tonight it's harder to hear than goodbye
