Devil In My DNA

Less Than Jake

When is common sense too much to ask?
And then when did consequences get left in the past
Is it just bad habits or a typical script
Is it all big plans then a hit and a miss
Can say my influence becomes my design
Or is science and cigarettes my compromise
I don't know but I'm blaming everyone else
Just as long as I never put the blame on myselfCause i know, I've waisted way too many times
Living way to many lies
How can this be my fault, I'm always rightThere's a devil in my DNA
Programmed parts from all the start
Or is there no one left to blame?
For my tangled upgears and my turnstile jobs
Fact is I'm just a living sum of all my partsWhen do instructions come with a catch?
And when is self-destruction just proven as a fact?
Is it just blind faith or the family name?
Is it all by chance or completly ingrained?Can I say its an imbalance of the chemical kind
Or is my environment my only disguise
I don't kbow but I'm blaming everyone else
Just as long as I never put the blame on myself

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/