

Vacation

Tesla Rossa

Let me be your vacation
If just a flash in the pan
I'll help you lose the top button
I'll help you to understand
That you need a vacation
Before we turn into rust
Any smile that you might see baby
Well theyâ€™ve all been rehearsed

Now give me some understanding

Its just a million little tiny things
When added up they simply mean
That we were supposed to be together
We werenâ€™t supposed to be together

You know i need a vacation
Blame it all on the rain
A piece of coal atop your diamond mine
Never gets the pressure to turn into something great
Iâ€™m threatened by your vacation
Say something just to digress
And like the time thats just ticking by
I feel it beating in my chest
