

Crossroads

Accept

I couldn't talk for the longest time
About the deepest fear of mine
I'm haunted by this hurting spell
To see what I can never tell, it really hurts Who am I, what can I say
I rather turn my eyes away
I hear my conscience speak out loud
You cannot change
You're way too proud Don't let me down
I'm standing at the crossroads
Don't let me down
I'm standing at the crossroads You gotta know, I can read your mind
And see that you're the kind
Who's hiding pain, hiding his life
Behind a wall, a wall of pride
