

Where I Belong

KONGOS

I think I need a new tattoo
I wanna influence and age group
Maybe fifteen to twenty-two
They like to do what they want to I want the right mix of innocence
And sustainable offence
My shoes are a personality
A fractal in my geometry I wanna run through the milky way
Maybe disobey a cosmic ray
Weigh everything on judgement day
See how much there is left to pay I want my answers to be questioned
I want more than one best friend
I want money that's already spent
I wanna act as if I don't pretend
But can I pretend That I am playing along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong
The universe is just one song
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong
I am playing along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong I think I need a new identity
A hotel with more amenities
Enemies keep me on my toes
That's why I gotta wear my new clothes If I could overrule the voices
In my head making choices
Maybe then I could escape
A life spent in a dreamstate I am playing along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong
The universe is just one song
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong
I am playing along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong I wanna run through the Milky Way
Maybe disobey a cosmic ray

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>