

Indifferent

Beatsteaks

I see an old man on the street, without shoes and nothing to eat. I ask myself, can this happen to me, who's the one, who cares about this treat? What a fuck is going on? Ignorance and "take it gone"! Sorrow is a normal thing, silence about suffering. Sad but true, we're looking still around, we can't help, cause we're indifferent! Is it the fear, that happens the same to us, to make us blind. A little girl walking next to me, I see her little swollen face. I think, she's talking to her mother and I hear: "Daddy's angry in these days". What a fuck is going on? Ignorance and "take it gone"! Sorrow is a normal thing, Silence about suffering. Sad but true, we're looking still around, we can't help, cause we're indifferent! Is it the fear, that happens the same to us, to make us blind - we close our eyes and it happens everyday!
