Old Doc Brown

Johnny Cash

He was just an old country doctor

In a little country town

Fame and fortune had passed him by

Though we never saw him frownAs day by day in his kindly way

He'd serve us one and all

Many a patient forgot to pay

Although Doc's fees were smallThough he needed his dimes and there were

Times that he'd receive a fee

He'd pass it onto some poor soul

That needed it worse than heHe had to sell his furniture

Couldn't pay his office rent

So to a dusty room over a livery stable

Doc Brown and his satchel wentAnd on the hitchin' post at the kerb below

To advertise his wares

He nailed a little sign that read

"Doc Brown has moved upstairs" And one day he didn't answer

When they knocked upon his door

Old Doc Brown was layin' down

But his soul was no more They found him there in that old black suit

On his face was a smile of content

But all the money they could find on him

Was a quarter and a copper centSo they opened up his ledger

And what they saw gave their hearts a pull

Beside each debtor's name old Doc

Had write these words, "Paid in full"Old Doc should had

A funeral fine enough for a king

It's a ghastly joke our town was broke

And no one could give a thing'Cept Jones an undertaker

He did mighty well

Donated an old iron casket

He had never been able to sellAnd the funeral procession

It wasn't much for grace and pomp and the style

But those wagon loads of mourners

They stretched out for more than a mileWe wanted to give him a monument

We kinda figured we owed him one

'Cause he made our town a better place

For all the good he'd doneWe pulled up that old hitchin' post

Where Doc had nailed a sign

We'd painted it white and to all of us

It certainly did look fineNow the rains and the snows
Have washed away our white trimmin's of paint
There ain't nothin' left but Doc's own sign
And that's gettin' pretty faintBut you can still see that old hitchin' post
As if in answer to our prayers
Mutually tellin' the whole wide world
Doc Brown has moved upstairs

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/