Godhead

I could be like everything you want Give you everything I've got inside Take me to the place where I can never be free Rip my last hope right out of meDon't you think that you're special You could be anyone Take the place of another Cycle of deliriumJust give me away I betray, I'm useless anyway Just give me away I pray that everyday will be my last Just give me awayI could turn myself into a miracle man Bow before the things you hold sacred Sparkling example of the one that you want Leaving your existence, mine to hauntDon't you think this is unreal You could be anyone Take the place of another End it all with a gunJust give me away I betray, I'm useless anyway Just give me away I pray that everyday will be my last Just give me awayAnd it feels the same with anyone And I know this has been overdone Now it feels the same with everyone As I burn into oblivionJust give me away I betray, I'm useless anyway Just give me away I pray that everyday will be my last Just give me awayNow you see, your time is done
