Sloom

[unknown]

The sea said goodbye to the shore so the sun wouldn't notice
The seaweed wrapped its arms around youThe carpet on my cheek feels like a forest and I run through the tall trees with your hand chasing meThe books that I keep by my bed are full of your stories That I drew up from a little dream of mine, a little nightmare of yoursTo beat us to take this plunge to forgive and forget be a better man, to be a better man, to be a better manSo love me mother, and love me father, and love my sister as well
So love me mother, and love me father, and love my brother as wellThe cat's silhouette as big as a monster in this concrete jungle,
The streetlights hanging their headsSo make all your last demands for I will forsake you and I'll meet your eyes for the very first time, for the very lastSo love me mother, and love me father, and love my sister as well
So love me mother, and love me father, and love my brother as well
So love me mother, and love me father, and love my sister as well
So love me mother, and love me father, and love my brother as wellI met a man today and he smiled back at me
And there are thoughts like these that keep me on my feet, that keep me on my feet.
