

Tears

Matt Hammitt

You've been, waiting a long time
To let this, out into the daylight
You're not alone, we all have days
When the well inside needs to break
Just let 'em fall, like healing rain
Watch the walls, start crumbling
Let your heart beat, and feel the weight
You've carried disappear
Just let 'em fall, right down your face
Hit the ground, in a pool of grace
And feel the things, you haven't felt for years
That's why God made tears
The waves crash, hard into the harbour
But you don't, have to hold 'em back any longer
There's a freedom, found when you're unafraid
To let the water, wash it all away
Just let 'em fall, like healing rain
Watch the walls, start crumbling
Let your heart beat, and feel the weight
You've carried disappear
Just let 'em fall, right down your face
Hit the ground, in a pool of grace
And feel the things, you haven't felt for years
That's why God made tears
Watch the old become new
Let the fear fade away
Feel His arms around you
Ohh, It's OK
You've been, waiting a long time
Just let 'em fall, like healing rain
Watch the walls, start crumbling
Let your heart beat, and feel the weight
You've carried disappear
Just let 'em fall, right down your face
Hit the ground, in a pool of grace
And feel the things, you haven't felt for years
That's why God made tears
That's why God made tears
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>