Passing Through (Track Commentary)

Evergrey

Ten years from now, I watched from far away.
Ten years from now, I might have found my way.
Ten years from, I see with different eyes.
Better, wiser and not as bland.Always looked for acceptance.
I might understood what it's like to be different.Cannot believe
This life leads to independence.Just no one see it like I do.
Just no one knows that we're just passing through.
No one feel what I do.
That we're just passing through.No longer represent who I used to be.
They just remind me of where I used to wait.
How I used to think. How I used to wake.
Ten years from now, I watched from far away.
Ten years from now, I should've found my way.
Ten years from, I see through different eyes.
Better, wiser and not as bland.Just no one see it like I do.
Just no one knows that we're just passing through.
No one feel what I do.
That we're just passing through.Just no one see it like I do.
Just no one knows that we're just passing through.
No one feel what I do.
That we're just passing through.I always looked for acceptance.
I understand what it's like to be different.
Just independence.
Just no one see it like I do.
Just no one knows that we're just passing through.
No one feel what I do.
That we're just passing through.Just no one see it like I do.
Just no one knows that we're just passing through.
No one feel what I do.
We're passing through.
