

Once Significant

Vonrenzo

I don't know why I started
I guess I was just looking
Speaking in lies, in lust, and in curses
Just to end this thought inside
And within young skin...
Why did I lift you up so high?
How did I hold you up so high?
In this desire for love and what you want
You know too little about what you need...
Although, you've tried to be different
You're turned around when you are lost
You've carved apart, all while yearning
Screaming out, well it only hurts now
When you are gone, oh baby, you breathe out
And I can never, no I won't ever, breathe in, then...
Why did I lift you up so high?
How did I hold you up so high?
In this desire for love and what you want
You know too little about what you need...
I don't wanna to fall from here...
Where I can never look down...
Cause I'll be looking all around...
Amen.

Lyrics submitted by Nathan.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>