Lo-Pro

I think I'll say goodbye to the bright side I think I'll change my mind And let the worlds collide I'll throw it all away, releasing everythingI feel like I'm home again Where everything feels right I'm all alone again But I am right insideIgnoring all the pieces of my broken life And hiding all the patches on my beaten pride I'm seeing everything in a different light And proving to myself I'm still alive I'll throw it all away, releasing everythingI feel like I'm home again Where everything feels right I'm all alone again But I am right insideProving to myself I'm still aliveI feel like I'm home again Where everything feels right I'm all alone again But I am right inside
