Vision Divine

Tell me now
How does it feel to see you're talking with your Soul?
Your dig within
Tell me now
Is this the truth you always have been searching for?
Was it worth the price? Through the veils of human uncertainty
Reside the nameless words we're not allowed to know
Would this veil break?
that's where your mind has gone
A trip with no return
Through the meaning of what we call... Life You and me
A madman and his Angel to their final trip
Drifting in a sullen sea, identities
Divided by a tiny line we cannot see
But I can feel your presence right here Tell me where I've gone
And where are my dreams and my desires?
They just run away
And I sit here with these empty words to tell I can feel your Spirit falling down in me
I feel your holy wings
Calming down my fears and rage that slowly pass me by Now I see That in this dark surrounding me
I will find some peace
And all the truth I needed was right here with me
All the reasons why I lost my soul
I can't get back
Forgive me, if you can... I won't Thanks for what you've done
And for being how you are with me
The sun is going down don't keep me here waiting for the dawn alone
I can feel your Spirit falling down in me
I feel your holy wings
Calming down my fears and rage that slowly pass me by Here I am
Is this the end I always have been searching for?
The meaning of what I called life?
