

Just A Boy

Harry Connick, Jr.

The last days in May before summer lay claim
Back in the school yard, we made up a game
Now is always, is always the same
Too bad always always ends I remember
I remember when
But I was just
Just a boy then Innocent envy without compromise
Recommendations all ill advised
Tall tales and little white lies
The truth had to bend I remember
I remember when
But I was just
Just a boy then Now that we're tall and all grown
A house, a car lives of our own
We put off but we can't postpone
The way we become men I remember
I remember when
But I was just
Just a boy then

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>