

All Warm

Armor for Sleep

I'll find a cave for you
For you to run to
Nothing can break through stone
You'll sleep through winter You'll never feel the cold
Years will be all warm You'll bury yourself when you've had enough
And the world will think that you've just run off
But I'll always know how you chose to go
Inside your still world where winter is broken If I could build for you
A magic retreat from
Seasons that break your bones
Trust me I'd live to You'll never feel the cold
Years will be all warm You'll bury yourself when you've had enough
And the world will think that you've just run off
But I'll always know how you chose to go
Inside your still world where winter is broken Trust me, I would build for you
A world for you
Trust me, I would build for you
A world for you You'll never feel the cold
Years will be all warm You'll bury yourself when you've had enough
And the world will think that you've just run off
But I'll always know how you chose to go
Inside your still world where winter is broken
