Are We Ready? (Wreck)

Two Door Cinema Club

Beyond a sacred cow
Stand up, take a bow
You're wonderful
You should be comfortable, don't think at all
Just don't think at all, think at all
Now, now you're digging around
What will you write about?
How did you find that out?
You get paid, don't need any respect
Senses fading, she's no ladyOh, we've made a mistake
We've lost our minds
We've lost our memory
Oh, what's it gonna take?
There's always something else
Waiting on the shelfYou could be president
You never paid the rent but I don't mind
You got no reason to [?]
It can't be good enough
(Good enough)Now, now you're throwing the stone
You never simplify
Somebody stretch your eye
What will you say
With that mind of your own
Are we ready?
Hold it steadyOh, we've made a mistake
We've lost our minds
We've lost our memory
Oh, what's it gonna take?
There's always something else
So occupy yourselfI saw the world today
It comes in green and gray
Refrigerator humming
Chewing gum and instant karma
The wars are whoring
All the stores are bored with all your money
We follow what's to come
That's what they sold to meNow, now you're throwing the stone
You never simplify
Somebody stretch your eye

What will you say
With that mind of your own
Are we ready?
Hold it steadyNow, now you're throwing the stone (oh, we've made a mistake)
We've lost our minds (you never simplify)
We've lost our memory (somebody stretch your eye)
What will you say
With that mind of your own (oh, what's it gonna take?)
There's always something else
Are we ready?
Waiting on the shelf
Hold it steady

Songwriters
KEVIN STEPHEN BAIRD, MATTHEW SAMUEL HALLIDAY, ALEXANDER JAMES TRIMBLEPublished by Lyrics Â© WARNER/CHAPPELL MUSIC INC.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/