Satisfy

Acel van Ommen

If there was a way to try and make it back
Back to where we started from
Could I find a way to try and make you stay?
Would I know what could be done?I don't wanna deny my heart its chance to feel
I don't wanna deny my soul something realIs there anything left in this world
That will satisfy me?
Is there anything left in this world
That will satisfy you tonight?We were sailing on, I could see the world below
Never thought of coming down
Expectations fell, it seemed as though our will
Was no match for the trouble foundI don't wanna deny my heart its chance to feel
I don't wanna deny my soul something realIs there anything left in this world
That will satisfy me?
Is there anything left in this world
That will satisfy you tonight?So take my hand and I won't look back
Though I've lived tossed along these waves
I will stayIs there anything left in this world
That will satisfy me?
Is there anything left in this world
That will satisfy me?Is there anything left in this world
That will satisfy you?
Is there anything left in this world
That will satisfy me tonight?
