

Calisthenics

Jacqui Hunt

Two halves come together as one

Workmanship is second too none.

Join the dots, stitching up those ventricles of a broken heart.

Events somehow lead you down the road that met with me babe.

You are my ceremony,

To you I take a vow.

Come dancing, where doing Calisthenics,

You give me so much more than I ever could have hoped for.

You said sometimes, you'll end up closer, the further that you try run

Join the dots, stitching up those ventricles of a broken heart.

Events somehow lead you down the road that met with me babe.

You are my ceremony,

To you I take a vow.

Come dancing where doing calisthenics,

You give me so much more than I ever could have hoped for.

Lyrics Submitted by Carlos Pereira

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>