

Stars Never Fade

Damon & Naomi

The world through your eyes looks so elegant
That perfect slanting light, the satin gowns
Could it really be such a place of harmony? And the stars glitter off your walls
And your stars never fade at all The moment is caught, saved forever
That gaze in the glass, the shadowed room
Could it really be or is it trick photography? And the stars glitter off your walls
And your stars never fade at all Your daughters are there, full of tenderness
That introspective look you know so well
Could it really be such a happy family? And the stars glitter off your walls
And your stars never fade at all
