

They Don't Make Hearts (Like They Used To)

Diamond Rio

When my grandad fell in love with my grandma
Hearts were made to last, hearts were strong
But over the years they must have changed somehow
Look at us now, something must be wrong. They don't make hearts like they used to
These days a heart ain't worth a dime
They don't make hearts like they used to
They're breaking all the time. When my folks fell in love, they had no doubt
Whatever came their way, they would just work out
Now someone's breaking up, every time you turn around
No one seems to know what love is all about. They don't make hearts like they used to
These days a heart ain't worth a dime
They don't make hearts like they used to
They're breaking all the time. It's there any hope for us to last for long
Then we've got to find the kind of love
Old hearts were built upon. They don't make hearts like they used to
These days a heart ain't worth a dime
They don't make hearts like they used to
They're breaking all the time
