

Dark

Terminal

You'll be the first flight out of Dallas
You leave but never get away
From the color you swear that your life takes in this town
Because scenery is just a shadeYou live in regret
It hurts to know how much you'll missI want to make it feel alright
Hold you through the dark tonightSo what if now is all you have?
Live as if you never knew what it was to lose
Honestly have you ever been honest with yourself
Or are you someone else's point of view?You live in regret
It hurts to know how much you'll miss
It's what you expect
That leaves you such a messOne day you'll learn
No place will make you happierAre you someone else's point of view?
Are you someone else's point of view?

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>