

Just Another Night

Reamonn

She wakes up cold
Reaching for his arms
But there's no one there She feels so old
She falls apart
As she fights back tears And then she curls up small
And feels like she's alone here in Hell
And then she starts to scream I deserve more
She's running out of time
She's running out of time Oh tonight
Is just another night
Just like any other night And then she climbs inside
And orders him to drive
Drive anywhere He said
Hey you there's no need to cry
He began to stare And then she curls up small
And feels like she's alone here in Hell
And then she'd start to scream I deserve love
I'm running out of time
I'm running out of time Oh tonight
Is just another night
Just like any other night In these worn down streets
Blinded by the neon lights
She feels turned away She stands up straight
And takes some air
It's just another bad day And then she screams out loud
You've made a mess of your life
You won't make a mess of mine Oh tonight
Is just another night
Just like any other night Oh tonight
Is just another night
Just like any other night And then she screams out loud
As she's racing through the crowd
She screams at the top of her voice
I'm taking back what's mine Oh tonight
Is just another night
In just another life
