

Another Innocent Girl

Alkaline Trio

He likes to act like he's all grown up
He wanted to grow up to be an actor
But he never told anybodyHe likes to spill all of his guts
On the top of a well stocked bar
And then swallow them bit by bit
Remembering every scarIt's a valid reason for every drink
And a new tattoo is a new reason to thinkHe likes to pretend that he's all sewn up
It makes for a much stronger case
But there's blood underneath that skin
That scar is not so easy to eraseHe walks with a glass cane now
He's careful when holding his body up straight
Can't go outside anywmore when it's raining
Can't smash up that beautiful faceAnother innocent girl just made his list
That self pity shit, it's just too hard too resistYeah, when we get home, you'll see
That this part of him is now part of meHe likes to act like he's all grown up
He wanted to grow up to be an actor
But he never told anybodyHe likes to spill all of his guts
On the top of a well stocked bar
And then swallow them bit by bit
Remembering every scarIt's a valid reason for stronger drinks
And a new tattoo is a new reason to thinkYeah, when we get home, you'll see
That this part of him is now part of me
Yeah, when we get home, you'll see
That this part of him is controlling meYeah, it's way too easy to fake this smile lead you on
Maybe I'm wrong but everyone gets bored once in awhile

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>