Hard

John Wesley Harding

Inside your machine I hear a whirring
Cogs and flywheels getting into gear
Was this was time to tell you're secrets
Softly so that only I could hearStrange to be this close and never touching Moves me far away from where we are
I wish I knew what you were dreaming
And I wonder if you're showing off the scarIt's true
I know it's hard on me
It's even harder on youIt's hard
It's hard to be strangers
I send my best regards
We both changed and that's hardWe slept through one another's nightmares
'Til we forgot what beds are for
Now we're awake and slightly shaken
We're seeing what's behind the bedroom doneIt's no fun
I know it's hard on me
It's hard on everyoneIt's hard
It's hard
It's hard to be strangers
I send my best regards
But we both changed and that's hardWhen you said that it was love or nothing
I didn't know the outcome was in doubtI know it's hard on me
It's even harder on youIt's hard
It's hard
It's hard that we changed
I send my best regards
'Cause we're strangers now and that's hard
It's hard
It's hard
