

Hard

John Wesley Harding

Inside your machine I hear a whirring
Cogs and flywheels getting into gear
Was this was time to tell you're secrets

Softly so that only I could hearStrange to be this close and never touching

Moves me far away from where we are

I wish I knew what you were dreaming

And I wonder if you're showing off the scarIt's true

I know it's hard on me

It's even harder on youIt's hard

It's hard to be strangers

I send my best regards

We both changed and that's hardWe slept through one another's nightmares

'Til we forgot what beds are for

Now we're awake and slightly shaken

We're seeing what's behind the bedroom doneIt's no fun

I know it's hard on me

It's hard on everyoneIt's hard

It's hard

It's hard to be strangers

I send my best regards

But we both changed and that's hardWhen you said that it was love or nothing

I didn't know the outcome was in doubtI know it's hard on me

It's even harder on youIt's hard

It's hard

It's hard that we changed

I send my best regards

'Cause we're strangers now and that's hard

It's hard

It's hard
