Conventional Wisdom

Built to Spill

Sometimes life surprises 'Cause you never expected to be that Dangerous disguises That you never expect to seeSome things never change Nothing's gonna change that Some things you can't explain Like why were all embracing conventional wisdom In a world that's just so unconventional Made you turn around But you never expected to see that That's what makes that sound That you never expect to hearSome things never change Something's gotta change that Some things you can't explain Like why were all embracing conventional wisdom In a world that's just so unconventional They don't know they're wrong But you know that they never can see that That's what makes them strong That they know that we'll never see

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/