Stubborn Love

Kathy Troccoli

Caught again, Your faithless friend
Don't You ever tire of hearing what a fool I've been?
Guess I should pray but what can I say?
Oh, it hurts to know the hundred times I've caused You painThough 'Forgive me' sounds so empty when I never change
Yet You stay and say, "I love you still"
Forgiving me time and time againIt's Your stubborn love that never lets go of me
I don't understand how You can stay
Perfect love embracing the worst in me
How I long for Your stubborn loveFunny me, just couldn't see
Even long before I knew You, You were loving me
Sometimes I cry, You must cry too
When You see the broken promises I've made to YouI keep saying that I'll trust You though I seldom do Yet You stay and say, "You love me still"
Knowing someday I'll be like YouAnd Your stubborn love, it never lets go of me
I don't understand how You can stay
Perfect love embracing the worst in me
How I long for Your stubborn loveIt's Your stubborn love that never lets go of me
I don't understand how You can stay
Perfect love embracing the worst in me
And You never let me go, I believe I finally know
I can't live without Your stubborn love

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/