

Change The World

Finger Eleven

I just want the best for you girl
But I don't think I really know what that means
I know you bring the best out of me
And I know you sick of abstract things But time has been kind in a weird kind of way
'Cause I've been waiting for this feeling to leave
If I can hold on to this feeling, this song
Maybe I can get you to hold on me Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me
Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me I won't be sorry if you leave me girl
'Cause I'm the worlds biggest fan of cliches
I set you free then I love like a man
Herding in the worlds rush waves But I don't know that I can make it alone
And I don't have much more left to lose
I can't say for sure just where I went down
I just want to wind up there with you Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me
Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me When the darkness never ends and my world's crashing in
And it starts to turn again will you believe
When I'm walking over you and my world splits in two
When I just can't make it through will you believe Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me
Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me
Don't you believe girl you change the world
At least you change the world for me, hey At least you change the world for me, oh
At least you change the world for me, yeah
At least you change the world for me, yeah

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>