

And All That Could Have Been

Nine Inch Nails

Breeze still carries the sound
Maybe I'll disappear
Tracks will fade in the snow
You won't find me here Ice is starting to form
Ending what had begun
I am locked in my head
With what I've done I know you tried to rescue me
Didn't let anyone get in Left with a trace of all that was
And all that could have been Please, take this
And run far away, far away from me
I am tainted
The two of us were never meant to be
All these pieces and promises and left behinds
If only I could see
In my nothing
You meant everything, everything to me Gone
Fading
Everything And
All that
Could have been
Could have been Please, take this
And run far away, far as you can see
I am tainted
And happiness and peace of mind
Were never meant for me
All these pieces and promises and left behinds
If only I could see
In my nothing
You meant everything, everything to me
