

I Think It's Time She Learned

Waylon Jennings

How many times must I tell her
How many times must I say
I won't be around to pick her up again
From now on she'll have to find her own way. How many years have I loved her
While she stood by so unconcerned
But the things she don't know I'll teach her when I go
She's been wrong and I think it's time she learned. I think it's time she learned
Love can't live when love is not returned
She thought that I would always stand by
But she's been wrong and I think it's time she learned. I think it's time she learned
Love can't live when love is not returned
She thought that I would always stand by
But she's been wrong and I think it's time she learned.
