Even Now

Linda Eder

Even now I remember all the empty spaces you filled with love
Even now every corner of the world we shared is still filled with love
Even now not a day goes by when I don't ache for you
Through my tears I still hear your laughter even nowStars still shine when they're gone, hearts that break will still beat on Letting go is the hardest thing to do 'cause all those feelings start
And time can't change my heart, it all leads back to youEven now you are in my dreams and in my dreams you always will be
Even now you're the one true thing
That brings my heart back home here to me
When I'm scared I can close my eyes, you are there, ever young
And somehow, I can always find you even nowFrom all the memories kept inside
To all the dreams we knew, the rush of you
Will always be a part of meEven now you are in my dreams and in my dreams you always will be
Even now you're the one true thing
That brings my heart back home here to me
Even now in my darkest night, still you shine silver light
So I fall through forever with you even now
