Darkness Is Comfort

Vehemence

We're cast down through the ages
We're cast out forgotten
Through emptiness of solitude
Through this emptinessNoone will ever listen
Noone will even care
Darkness is the only comfort
Darkness is all thats safeTheir gazes turn sideways whenever you're near
They turn their backs to you, Pretend you aren't there
It's so hard to smile whenthey feed you this shit
You'll never fit in, never be one of themSo hard to be the outcast
So hard to be alone
Why must there be tomorrow
Why must there be todayThey say that their your good friends
They say nothing but lies
Noone is to be trusted
No word is ever safeNoone is to be trusted
No word is ever safe
Darkness the only comfort
Darkness all that's safeBring it in waves like the ocean at night
To wrap its cold hands around my head
To blur out the colors of all that is life
Steal air that I breathe from my chestPull me out current, show me new life
Grant me this chance to see
What I could become if left on my own
Without them staring at meThey will not understand what we've become They'll never know how far we've gone
They just keep smiling, the joke is on me
They won't understand, the joke is on meI will find my life
I don't need you to leave me, I left you behind
