Speak My Language

The Cure

It was only yesterday, waving arms across the street
Your white face left me blue
Oh, how can I say all the things I have to say to you?
All the people here all look the same
The little time I spend with you, we drink each other dry[Incomprehensible]
Well, now, speak my languageIt was only yesterday
My eyes touched yours across the street
Cut the words and waved goodbye
And dropped off the edge of the world[Incomprehensible]
Speak my language, speak my language
