

Surrogate

So forget about the money
And forget about yourself
And forget about the calculated risk
It never ends well So forget about the money
And forget about yourself
So forget about the money
And forget about yourself So tell me what you're thinking
And I'll tell you why you are wrong
I've been talking for a long, long time
But you're always gone So forget about the money
And forget about yourself
So forget about the money
And forget about yourself So forget about the money
And forget about yourself
So forget about the money
And forget about yourself Forget about the money
And forget about yourself
So forget about the money
And forget about yourself
