Don't Believe a Word

Ivy

How can you say
After all we've done together
It's gonna take forever
To mend what's come apartAnd how can you say
That you never meant to hurt me
You didn't dare alert me
To your poisoned heartBefore too long, something is wrong
Tell me too sick to mention
Show me about your good intention
Give me all of your attention
But I don't believe a word, don't believe a wordI hate to say but
You know you're growing older
And your eyes are getting colder
And your hair is falling outThere'll be a day
When your confidence is shaken
And you know you were mistaken
You'll have your doubtsBefore too long something is wrong
Tell me you're too sick to mention
Show me about your good intention
Give me all of your attention
But I don't believe a word, don't believe a wordBefore too long something is wrong
Tell me you're too sick to mention
Show me about your good intention
Give me all of your attention
But I don't believe a word, don't believe a wordI don't believe a word, don't believe a word
I don't believe a word, don't believe a word
