

Mirrored Sea

Passion Pit

Well he caught the whole things that you always think
He said he didn't mean no harm
Well it was a big to-do
But nothing else was new
His passion for the drink, it was the central part
He could look good in the light and look bad in the dark
Good men are scarce and few
But always passing through Oh you mirrored sea
Your waves, they're haunting me
They're all I see
Now let me be, you mirrored sea
Your waves, they're haunting me
Out in the sea, leave me be Whatever chance that I've been ready
It takes more to risk it at the end of the rope
Bounce off the walls of your teams
Like in a pinball machine
Slip-ups in this town are like a sentence to life
Like overheard that someone saw you cheating your wife
And then it's down for the count
The lost ones won't be found Oh you mirrored sea
Your waves, they're haunting me
They're all I see
Now let me be, you mirrored sea
Your waves, they're haunting me
Out in the sea, leave me be Really want to know Oh you mirrored sea
Your waves, they're haunting me
They're all I see
Now let me be, you mirrored sea
Your waves, they're haunting me
Out in the sea, leave me be
